Angela Glaude-Hosch, MPA is a Lead Visual Information Specialist with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, where she manages an eighteen-member graphic design team and has over twenty years of government experience. A 1988 graduate of Spelman College, Angela received a B.A. degree in Psychology and in 1999 earned a Masters degree in Public Administration from Troy State University. As an accomplished speaker, poet and presenter, Angela's greatest passion, driven by her strong Christian Faith, is using her God-given talents to encourage, inspire and motivate others. She self published her first book of poetry, Reflections of the Soul, in 1996, sharing her works on a number of local radio programs (WAOK 1380AM, WYZE 1480AM) and has developed and conducted numerous motivational workshops tailored to both professional and spiritual audiences.

These workshops were developed for the Quality of Work-life Series (CDC); Washington Coalition of Sexual Assault Programs (WCSAP); Motivational Mondays Series (Emory University); Founder's Day Seminars (Spelman College); Sisters Who Care Missions Summits (GA Baptist Convention/WMU) and numerous women's retreats and conferences hosted by several metro area churches. Angela is a native of Moss Point, Mississippi and currently resides in Powder Springs, Georgia with her husband and two children. She views herself as a "Work in Process" living in the Light of The Truth and acknowledgement that this LIFE is the greatest GIFT she has to give!
